Start your organic gardening experience today!

While you're waiting for an individual bed why not start gardening in The Group Garden today? Imagine not needing to buy your pricey, organic vegetables at the market anymore, instead you can now pick them fresh out of the ground the same day your need them! We have open spaces available for gardeners who are interested in working as a team to learn how to garden and grow delicious, tender, organic vegetables. No prior gardening experience is required. This is great experience and knowledge that can be applied when you have your individual plot, however most members choose to remain in The Group Garden and enjoy the assistance, abundance of variety and space as well as the friendships that are made.

What is The Group Garden?

The Group Garden is a place where many gardeners work together choosing what to grow, caring for the space together, and sharing the harvest. It offers the opportunity to work as a part of a team to decide what, when, and where to plant in our 4 designated Group Garden plots. We have sub-teams of 3-5 people who are responsible for growing specific vegetables in specified plots and then all the produce is shared among the contributing Group Garden members. We often work together but can also work on flexible individual schedules. We scale the production to the demands of the group and so have more efficient gardening and higher-yield production. Each Group Garden member stays on the CSG Waiting List, and when offered an individual bed, the gardener can accept the individual bed and leave the Group Garden or decline the individual bed and stay in the Group Garden.
